

Deskcenter Licence Management

Manage all licences holistically and ensure IT compliance

Identify and secure compliance risks

Licences for the use of software and the software itself form an essential part of the value chain of a product or service. With Deskcenter Licence Management as part of the Deskcenter Management Suite you get transparency regarding the use of all the licences in your company.

Compliance risks are recognised and eliminated; software can be used efficiently and IT investments can be planned in a targeted manner. Combined with the Deployment & Release Management of the Deskcenter Management Suite, a holistic process is mapped that makes it possible to optimise licence costs, e.g. to return licences that have become free to the pool of available licences. This ensures that costs and compliance are managed optimally and that the IT organisation can always deliver first-class services for the company.

Inventory and product recognition

This is unique: Deskcenter Profiler detects software from more than 16,000 manufacturers - be it complex individual applications or entire suites. The licence metrics are mapped exactly. Thanks to the integrated, cloud-based update service, we always work with the most up-to-date detection of software products. This guarantees full transparency of the software inventory. The basis for the clear recognition and allocation is the lossless inventory, with which you can record over 3,500 system details and recognise over 1.8m unique software products. The Deskcenter Management Suite is therefore the complete solution for holistic software asset management.

Licence and contract management

To avoid subsequent service or maintenance costs, you need contract transparency. In addition to the clear display of all licences used in the company, Deskcenter Licence Management also enables you to archive and manage all the commercial data, such as licence and contract documents for the entire software portfolio, at a central location. All licence types and metrics are taken into account when calculating licences, as are different usage rights or upgrades and downgrades. This data forms the basis for your reporting or the licence balance sheet.

Compliance-compliant licence balance

With the Deskcenter solution, you fulfil the licence requirements of all common software manufacturers and are protected in the event of an audit. The validity of your licences is checked based on the technical and commercial inventory. A clear traffic light system informs you about the current licence status. In this way, you avoid under-licensing and the use of unapproved software.

The reports that can be generated from this are configured in such a way that they are immediately informative in the event of an audit. Deskcenter Management Suite includes all the necessary functionalities to support software licence compliance in the company.

Costs, security and compliance optimized

With Deskcenter Licence Management you can see immediately if licences are missing or unused and can react quickly if necessary. Get full transparency of all assets, licences and contracts. Optimise your software landscape and adjust the licensing to the actual usage. The licence reporting guarantees immediate information in the event of an audit. In this way, you are protected by licensing law and at the same time retain control over the costs.
